Contributing to Adult Learner Programs

The Adult Learner Development Fund at Penn State was established by Special Populations in 2008 for new incoming baccalaureate degree-seeking adult learners at University Park with the purpose of providing financial assistance and encouraging full- and part-time new undergraduate students to pursue degrees despite their challenges. This collective effort seeks to recognize and reward as well as enhance the academic experience of the adult learner with financial need.

Your contribution can provide assistance with programming initiatives for our diverse population of adult learners at University Park as well as provide assistance with purchasing textbooks, contributing toward the travel needs of major-related internships, helping an adult learner participate in education abroad programs, and much more. Your gift counts.
