Dear Ms. Jones:

FIRST PARAGRAPH:
Attract the employer’s interest by briefly touching on your specific interest in the company and/or position. If you have been referred by someone, here is where you mention it. Avoid such stereotypical, overused first sentences as “This is in answer to your advertisement,” or "I am a senior in Psychology at Penn State." You want to convince the reader that you are interested in them by specifically outlining why you want to work for them and how you would contribute to the organization.

MIDDLE PARAGRAPH:
Describe your interest in the position, in the field of work, or in the organization. If you have a related class, student activity, volunteer or work experience, be sure to mention pertinent data or accomplishments to show that you have specific qualifications or skills for this particular type of work. Refer to key aspects of the resume which relate to the job or employer, but don’t restate complete sections of the resume.

CLOSING PARAGRAPH:
Mention your interest in discussing the job in person (i.e., ask for an interview). Express appreciation for being considered and include a statement about your desire to have an interview.

Sincerely,

Each cover letter should be tailored to the organization to which you are applying. Your letter should not read as if you just filled in the blanks.
Dear Ms. Ziner:

To succeed in advertising, one must possess a flair for creativity, the ability to work effectively with clients and associates, initiative, and perseverance. Through this letter I would like to demonstrate such qualities and express an interest in an Account Services internship with Advertising, Inc. When I read the announcement posted to my department’s listserv, I was immediately drawn to the opportunity for professional development that this position would allow in regard to client relations and media placements.

I have enclosed a resume for your review, which outlines my experience in the field of advertising and promotion. As an advertising salesperson for my local newspaper, I work successfully with a variety of clients and with the media in designing and arranging advertisements. My responsibilities in this position enhanced my skills in writing, design, promotion, marketing, and follow-through. I quickly learned to identify appropriate markets and to promote the newspaper as an effective medium to reach those markets.

Much of my success is due to my customer orientation, my skills in identifying client needs, and in marketing the services of my employer. I am a self-starter, persistent, and possess the ability to learn quickly. I feel these skills and experiences would be a strong addition to your firm and am excited about the prospect of putting them to work for you.

I hope you agree that my qualifications seem to be a match for this internship. If so, I would appreciate the opportunity for an interview. I look forward to speaking with you.

Thank you for your consideration.

Best Regards,

Mark E. University
Dear Mr. Donavan:

After reading your brochure and researching Xyntek, Inc., I became quite interested in possible employment in IT software and systems consulting. I am submitting this letter in application for this position.

I have a great deal of experience using several programming languages, including SQL, ORACLE, JavaScript, HTML, CSS and XML. In addition, I have worked with jQuery and Microsoft .NET.

In my internship at XYZ Corporation I was part of a team responsible for the design, development and production of database candidate processing systems for their human resources department. My specific role involved testing and trouble-shooting databases as they were developed. This has proven very successful for XYZ and has increased efficiency of the recruiting process for the HR administrators. I've also been web page editing on contract. In a project for the Fayette Federal Credit Union, I developed an internal search engine and an online loan application, and kept their web page up to date and added new features as needed.

I am an enthusiastic hard worker with the desire to learn many new concepts and skills. I would enjoy applying my skills and talents to a position with Xyntek, Inc. I look forward to hearing from you. Thank you for your time.

Cordially,

Mary E. Smith

Note that this candidate refers to the research she’s done on the company and expresses a sincere interest. She also points out the amount and types of her relevant experiences in the field.
