If you have a talent for writing, a “nose for news,” and persistence, a career journalism might be for you. The best part of this career is that you can work in anything from print and online media to broadcast and freelance. This can help you get started.

Career Library Books:
8.13 Opportunities in Journalism Careers
8.26 Careers in Focus: Broadcasting
8.31 Careers in Journalism
8.32 Plunkett’s Entertainment and Media Industry Almanac
Vault Career Guide to Journalism & Information Media
Vault Guide to the Top Journalism & Publishing Employers

Online Resources:

General
American Society of Journalist and Authors - http://www.asja.org/index.php
Committee of Concerned Journalists - http://www.concernedjournalists.org/
First Amendment Center - http://www.firstamendmentcenter.org/

Print
Newspaper Guild - http://www.newsguild.org/
Association of Alternative Newsweeklies - http://aan.org/alternative/Aan/index
Newspaper Association of America - http://www.naa.org/

Online/Digital
Online News Association - http://journalists.org/
Current - http://www.current.org/
Cyber Journalist - http://www.cyberjournalist.net/
Digital Journalist - http://www.digitaljournalist.org/

Internships & Jobs
Institute for Humane Studies journalism internship - http://www.theihs.org/journalists
JournalismJobs - http://www.journalismjobs.com
NYU Journalism Internship list - http://journalism.nyu.edu/career-services/job-and-internship-listings/
Broadcasting and Cable - http://www.broadcastingcable.com/
Editor& Publisher - http://www.editorandpublisher.com/
Media Channel - http://mediachannel.org/